

Dear Representatives,

I have become aware that the FCC will be promoting changes to the American news media. Given the difficulty I have finding balanced news (C-Span is the only exception), I am very concerned about the FCC's lack of wisdom in opening up the doors for the news networks to monopolize under one corporate head. This move flies flat in the face of democratic competition and does a great disservice to the American public. Instead of allowing and promoting diversity, this move allows less diversity and controls even further the ability for journalist to write independently and honestly. This also can become a direct attack on our constitutional right to freedom of speech in this country.

Now more than in any time in my fifty years we MUST protect our constitution and stop the whittling away of this country by this type of sneaky, dirty politics and corporate control. I stand against corporate control and ask that you speak out against this move involving the FCC.

Sincerely,

Cynthia Robles
